The Coalition of Northeastern Governors (CONEG) today released a statement following the deadly, hateful acts of violence and bigotry, in Charlottesville, Virginia, over the weekend that killed three people and left 35 injured:

“The hateful rhetoric, violent actions, and racist agenda over the weekend must be condemned and responded to with justice. As the federal, state, and local government response to this national tragedy continues, hate, in every form, at every instance, must be met with moral leadership.”

“Hate, bigotry, and violent ideologies are combatted effectively by the principles of equality and respect; by actions that strengthen our common humanity and denounce this hate.”
